Going Digital

Valuable content is the most important part of any event, and is what leaves a lasting impression in the minds of the visitors. As such, we are constantly finding new digital solutions for you to deliver the same content, but in a more eye-catching, attention grabbing way, to not only catch the attention of visitors passing by, but more importantly increase the retention rate of information and brand recall through interactions with your brand.

No better way to engage your audiences, than to involve them in playing interactive, hyper-casual games that relate to your brand or campaign message, while delivering a memorable experience.

Touchscreen Kiosks

Digital Advertising

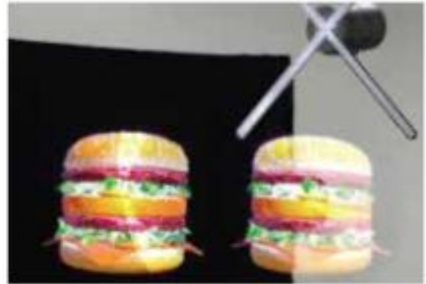

From a simple digital brochure, to visual and engaging presentations, there are many uses for touchscreen displays, which you can use to engage your audience. With touchscreen monitors, content displayed can always be easily refreshed with the same hardware.

The 3D Hologram creates bright and eye-catching animations that appear to be floating in an empty space. With the use of razor lights and a spinning blade, the product creates a 3D illusion of an image or animation, without the need for 3D glasses.

PORTABLE SYSTEMS

Truss

Our truss systems are not only modular, but also lightweight, making transportation easier. With its strong and versatile locking mechanism, it provides the stability needed to construct bigger, taller structures and is especially suitable for booths with very angular designs. This system also makes a very suitable backbone for standalone display structures because of its sturdiness.

TenFab is a light weight system, making it suitable for overseas exhibitions. Its structure is made of hollow aluminium tubes that you connect to each other, forming the frame, before slipping the graphics on like a pillow case. Graphics are printed on fabric creating slight tension on the backwall to achieve a non-crumpled, sleek look.

TenFeb also comes in various sizes and shapes, and thus do not compromise on the designs you can achieve.

TenFab

MaxPole (Backdrop / Standee)

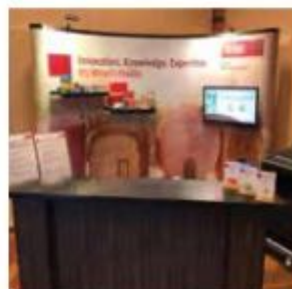

Maxpoles are suitable for creating backwalls for one-time events, as graphics are printed on foamboards, making it a cost-effective, one-time use solution.

Pop-up Systems, available in straight, curve or S-shaped designs, can be set up in one swift motion of pulling up the frame until its locking mechanisms lock the frame in place.

There are also various material options for graphics to be printed on. You may either opt for fabric which is lighter and more compact, or graphic prints which give a more polished, finished look.

Pop Up

ISO Frame

ISO Frames are most suited for booth designs which require the integration of multiple accessories. It's locking mechanism not only makes it safe and easy to set up without the need for tools, but also gives you the flexibility to join panels at different angles, to create an angled backdrop.

Some of its accessories include, TV, display shelves, light boxes and a door with lock for storage.

Lock Panel

The Lock Panel system is easy to set up because of its unique locking mechanism that does not require tools. It has heavier components thus making it more suitable for rental.

Lightbox

Lightboxes are a good way to create a high impact display without taking up too much. Lightboxes are not only customizable in size, but can also be integrated with various portable systems to create an impressive exhibition booth or roadshow display.

R8 systems are most recognizable for their modular aluminium structures and white panels, allowing you to customize its size by adding or removing sections.

With its base structure in place, there are endless ways to beautify the booth.

R8

Twist-Original System

The twist-curve system is unique for its ability to not only join multiple banners at different angles to form a seamless curve backdrop.

This portable and light weight system can be used as a single banner or can be used to create a backdrop. Adding or removing panels will adjust the size of the backdrop to meet your requirements.

Link 2

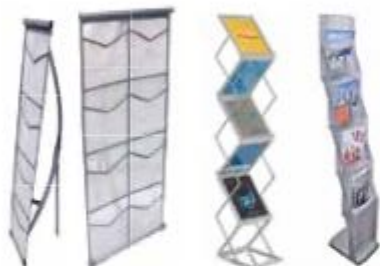

The Link 2 banner is a very unique light weight system, which on its own, looks like a regular roll up banner. However, the Link 2 allows you to link multiple banners together to form a seamless backwall. It can also cater for curve designs, which make the possible configurations limitless. This modular system allows you to add, remove, and change its curve and straight configurations to suite any exhibition booth or roadshow spaces.
